

IKEA® kitchens

Other companies might say...

...that our flat pack kitchens are of a lesser quality.

We say: If our kitchens were poor quality we would not be able to guarantee them for 25 years.

Because IKEA Kitchens are flat packed they are economical, less likely to be damaged in transit and less expensive to transport.

These savings are then passed onto you in our everyday low prices.

...that our cabinets have no void at the back and installers do not like them.

We say: No void at the back of our cabinets gives you much more storage space, something you will value highly in your finished kitchen. Our 18mm cabinets are designed to remain strong, even when cut to incorporate pipe work.

We have excellent installers who are happy to fit your IKEA kitchen.

...that you have to plan it yourself.

We say: Our customers have a choice. Many customers prefer to plan their own kitchen with our user friendly on-line planning tool. They can then discuss their design with one of our experts in-store to ensure that everything is right.

Others use our in-home planning service where a planner will visit your home, measure up and design your kitchen for a small fee of £20.

...that they'll beat any quote.

We say: We love it when our customers compare our prices with competitors because we know we are the least expensive on the market. Bring in your quotes from anywhere and compare - nobody beats us on everyday low price, quality and service.
