To make our products and services available to you

We use your personal data to provide you with information, products and services you request or buy from us (for example to fulfil certain tasks, run certain processes or put into effect certain orders on our website or in our apps, to accept online payments (if applicable) and deliver your products or services), to contact you about products and services that you buy from us, to answer your queries and to respond to your comments;

We may also use your personal data to check how satisfied you are and to offer you customer services (including resolving problems related to your purchases and services you request and questions you ask us on social media);

When you order products or services we collect or process your personal data in accordance with the contractual conditions that serve as legal grounds. In some other cases, we base ourselves on our legitimate business interest (for example to measure customer satisfaction and resolve any problems). When we base ourselves on our legitimate business interest, we will always ensure that your rights are duly respected.

For administrative and internal business purposes

We may use your personal data for our internal business purposes, such as improving our website, our products and services, and identifying user trends. We may also use your data to check how our website is used and make any adjustments to ensure our website is presented in the most efficient and relevant way for you, given your device and your standard settings (such as language and store locations);

Using your personal data in this way is in our legitimate interest. For example, it is in our interest to ensure that our website is customer-friendly and works properly, and that our products and services are of high quality. We also want to make it as easy as possible for you to interact with us. When we base ourselves on our legitimate business interest, we will always ensure that your rights are duly respected.

For reasons of security and law

We use your personal data for the following ends:

- to check that the personal and financial information you share with us is correct;
- to identify fraud or prevent other illegal activity;
- to protect our rights and property (and those of other parties); and
- to fulfil our legal and compliance obligations.

In some cases we use your personal data to fulfil a legal obligation (for example, if we receive a legitimate request from a law enforcement agency). In other cases (such as fraud) we use your personal data based on our legitimate business interest. When we base ourselves on our legitimate business interest, we will always ensure that your rights are duly respected.

- process your registration data, account activity and purchasing history and analyse how and what you buy. This may include data on the products you have viewed, your past transactions and products you have added to your shopping cart. This enables us to tailor your browsing experience to your personal interests;

- in some cases, send you special offers based on your purchases or in relation to a special occasion;
- measure the effectiveness of our marketing campaigns and ads;
- conduct limited profiling (personalised marketing) based on data you have shared with us when we segment our IKEA Family database to determine which offers may interest you.

Based on your consent, as given by you when you registered for IKEA Family membership, we send you direct marketing messages by text, post and/or email. You may withdraw this consent at any time.

In other cases (for example, to measure how effective our marketing is), it is in our legitimate interest to communicate with IKEA Family members in a friendly and effective way. When we base ourselves on our legitimate business interest, we will always ensure that your rights are duly respected.

To personalise your shopping experience and improve our activities

We use your personal data for the following ends:

- to enable you to create a profile on our website so that you can buy IKEA products and services online without having to enter your details every time;
- to send you marketing material by text and/or email;

Using your personal data in this way is in our legitimate business interest. We do this to improve your shopping experience. That enables us to help you find the products and services you are looking for without needing to browse products and services you are not interested in.

Who do we share your personal data with?

We will never sell your personal data to a third party. However, to enable us to provide our services to you, we share your personal data with trustworthy external service providers and companies in our group, as set out in more detail below. When we share your personal data we take protective steps imposing on these companies the obligation to protect this data and not to use them for their own marketing purposes.

External service providers

To third party advertisers including social media

If consent is given, to display relevant and personalized advertising to you on third-party websites and social media, we transmit your email address in hashed, i.e., pseudonymized, form to our partners Google and META. If you are logged in to these companies and have consented to personalized advertising, you will see personalized ads on third-party websites and social media if your hashed email address matches theirs.

We also transmit your hashed email address (pseudonymized) to our partners Google and META so they can create similar customer groups ("look-alikes") and display relevant ads to these groups on social media. After each matching process, the hashed email addresses are deleted by the data recipients.

If this involves data transfer to the USA, it is based on Article 45 Paragraph 1, Article 45 Paragraph 3 Sentence 1 of the GDPR and the EU-US Data Privacy Framework. You can opt out of these forms of advertising on third-party websites and social media at any time in your IKEA Family customer profile under Settings by clicking the "Edit" button.

To fulfil product and service orders

We outsource certain services to a number of trustworthy service providers. The purchase of products and services from us entails such services as delivery, assembly and installation, waste removal and payment processing. We are not able to fulfil all these services ourselves, so we must outsource them to external service providers. In any case, we ensure that the external service provider only uses your personal data to provide the services on our behalf and never for other purposes.

To prevent fraud and comply with the law

We share your financial data, including your credit card/debit card data, to ensure that your payment process is secure and your data are not used fraudulently. By sharing these data we are able to conduct fraud assessments to ensure the payment data provided in connection with a purchase are valid and correct. We may share your personal data with credit institutions if you apply for a loan.

There may be other scenarios in which we have a legal obligation to share or disclose your personal data, for example to law enforcement agencies or authorities to prevent or identify crimes or to fulfil a legal requirement.

Other professional services

We may have to disclose your personal data to our insurers if so required by our contractual relationship with our insurance agent.

We work with carefully selected external parties, such as our hosting provider for the customer database, marketing agencies and advertising partners that help us provide a positive customer experience. We work with these external service providers to place content relevant to you on our website, other websites and online media channels and apps. We use pixels and cookies to this end. See our Cookie Policy here.

IKEA Apps

By downloading one of the apps (IKEA app, IKEA Store, IKEA Smart Home, IKEA Better living, IKEA Place), you always have us close at hand. In the IKEA app you can view all IKEA products, add products to your IKEA Shopping List, make purchases or simply get inspiration. Sometimes, we are unable to do this without the proper information. We do not do this without a good reason. We collect data on how you use the IKEA app to help us find ways to improve it. All data we collect in this way is anonymized, which means it cannot be linked to you specifically. You can choose whether you want to share your data with IKEA in the app. You do this in the "data preferences" section in your account. We collect the data you share with us, such as your name, email address, delivery address, phone number and purchase history. We measure how you use the app and on what devices. This helps us improve the app. When you use the app, we ask you to allow us to access to specific data about your device and your location (to determine your delivery options) and your camera (to scan products in the store). You manage this access in the app settings on your device. If you allow personalization (in "data preferences" in your profile), you'll notice more and more products and solutions relevant to you popping up in the inspiration feed. The more we see of your preferences, the better we can inspire you. You must never feel uncomfortable about sharing your data. See it as a two-way street between IKEA and you. The more you tell us what you want to see, the more relevant the content will be that is displayed. When you have an IKEA account you can see your favorites across your devices and the payment process is faster and more convenient. If you consent to us contacting you by email you will also receive offers and news relevant to you straight to your inbox. If you have a change of heart, rest assured that you can delete your account. All your data will be erased, except for data we have an obligation to keep for tax purposes. When you make a purchase through the IKEA app, your transaction data will be registered to enable payment to be processed. Under tax laws, we must keep the details of every purchase on file for seven years. As an IKEA Family member, you can log in to the app to access your personal IKEA Family account. You can scan your IKEA Family card on your device in store to access IKEA Family benefits. With the IKEA app on your device you always have your card with you, ready for scanning at the checkout. You can also use your IKEA Family card when shopping online. In that case we link your purchasing data to your IKEA Family profile.

Companies of the Ingka Group

We may share the personal data we collect with other organizations in the IKEA Group that share various activities and corporate processes with us (such as IKEA IT AB and IKEA of Sweden AB). We do this to fulfil our contractual obligations to you or because it is in our legitimate business interest.

Transfer of your personal data to countries outside the EEA

In some cases we need to transmit your personal data to countries outside the European Economic Area (EEA), such as the United States:

- If we work with a supplier that processes some of the personal data outside the EEA.

These countries may not have the same data protection laws as in the EEA and your personal data may not enjoy the same level of protection. However, in these cases we see to it that appropriate data protection measures are in place to ensure that any personal data transferred to countries outside the EEA are processed with the same level of protection as they would enjoy in the EEA and in accordance with the principles of this Privacy Policy.

Security and retention of your personal data

Security of your personal data

We take your privacy concerns very seriously. We have implemented various strategies, controls, policies and measures to keep your data secure and keep these measures under close review. We protect your data by using encryption techniques and we use other safeguards such as firewalls and password protection. strict physical checks are in place at our stores and sites to restrict access to your personal data and keep them secure.

Retention of your personal data

Generally speaking, we only retain your personal data for as long as needed for the purposes described in this Privacy Policy. That means the retention terms vary depending on the type of personal data and why we hold them in the first place.

We put in place procedures with regard to retention terms that we follow meticulously, with due consideration for why we process your personal data and the legal basis for doing so.

AI in our systems

Certain systems, particularly those related to customer support, utilize AI technology. Below, we list those that most likely also process personal data.

Our Chatbot Charlie

Our chatbot uses LLM to assist users without human interaction. You can still ask for a co-worker, who will then help you with all your questions.

Reasons to contact us

We analyze various contacts (phone, email, chat, etc.) with the support of AI to determine the reasons why you contact us most often, through which channels, etc. This allows us to work more efficiently and make adjustments where necessary.

Email analysis & routing

Emails sent to our general email address customersupport.be are forwarded, using AI, to the most suitable co-worker to assist you. This way, the right co-worker can help you faster, saving time for both parties.

Every decision that impacts you as a customer—regarding returns, complaints, orders, rewards, and so on—is still made by a co-worker. AI technology is used to support this.
