What is not covered under this warranty?

Care instructions

All cookware with a stainless steel coating can be washed in a dishwasher.

Steel wool or abrasive sponges should never be used to clean the cookware since they can damage the surface.

When cooking food in a pot with a stainless steel coating, always add salt to the water after the water has been brought to the boil. Adding salt to cold water can cause salt stains that will eventually cause corrosion.

The base of a cookware is slightly concave when cold, but expands to flatten out when heated. Because of this, you should always leave the cookware to cool off before cleaning it. This allows the base to resume its shape and helps to prevent it from becoming uneven with use. It is also important that you never let the cookware boil dry, because this can cause the base to become distorted.

How country and provincial law applies

This warranty is to the benefit of the original purchaser of the product. All warranties on products sold within Canada are not transferable beyond the original purchaser with the exception of residents of the province of Saskatchewan. This warranty gives you specific legal rights. This warranty does not, in any way, affect the rights given to you by law. You may also have other rights under applicable provincial law. IKEA is not responsible for incidental or consequential damages. Some provinces do not allow the exclusion or limitation of incidental or consequential damages, or limitations on the warranties, so these exclusions or limitations may not apply to you.
