Ceramic waste gets its encore

Say hello to the PELARKAKTUS plates, made with a clever mix of 65-70% recycled factory waste and 30-35% fresh raw materials.

How? We take ceramics that didn't pass the audition of the second firing, grind them to perfection and reintegrate them with a brand new recipe. Now that's what we call a comeback!

“SKIVTOFS pendant lamp is my very first product for IKEA, making this project particularly special for me. I was inspired by the ‘shoemaker’s lamp’, as we call it in Sweden – a work lamp with a metal shade. To create a contemporary, elegant, and delicate version of that lamp, we decided to use ceramic.”
