Go on, catch the summer moments

Many of us have been there: dreaming of long vacations far, far away from the routines of every day. We’re right there with you. Although, mounds of time off on lavish adventures is not always possible to achieve. Nonetheless, there’s a common need to let go and reset once summer comes around.

So, this summer is all about catching those understated moments; the small opportunities that make celebrating summer easy. Like having ice cream for lunch, enjoying a spontaneous picnic, or going for an after work swim.

Meet the collection that puts you in “vacay mode” just by looking at it. With its playful aesthetic and graphic, colourful prints it embodies an iconic IKEA expression. From brightly designed beach towels, to cool looking coolers – there’s something for everyone’s summer needs.

So, go on; whether alone or with friends, catch your summer moments.
This summer, make room for more

In IKEA’s ambition to offer products that work for all people around the world, we also look beyond established design areas to find talent. Each collaboration has the intent of expanding horizons, sharing knowledge and building bridges. This year’s summer collection is created together with designers Lotta Kühlhorn, Malin Unnborn and the design collective, Textilgruppen & Papperian.

Textilgruppen & Papperian has been run by Växjö County in Sweden, since 2001 as part of an initiative for people with disabilities and a strong passion for art. Consisting of 26 artists, they work mainly with paper and textile designs, but sculptures too.

Lotta and Malin have both previously worked with IKEA. Recognized for their geometric, bold and graphic designs, they were the perfect complementing contrast to the free and lively expression of Papperian.

"Lotta Kühlhorn’s and Malin Unnborn’s strict geometric language really complement the free hand and playful expression of Textilgruppen & Papperian."

Mats Nilsson, IKEA Creative Leader
Small spaces for big beginnings

No large backyard? That’s OK. During the summer, a balcony – even the smallest one – can turn into a place for a good day’s start. Begin your summer mornings with a cup of coffee and a side of sunshine. Plus, this is a great space for all the wet swim gear to dry off, or stuffy fabrics to air out in the summer breeze.
"The ambition was to create a generous mix of patterns, yet keeping them concise in terms of the four prime colours: blue, yellow, red and green. That was how we started."

Malin Unnborn, Designer
Turn it inside out

Thanks to the light-weight construction of HAVSTEN you can go from indoors to outdoors in no time. Create a temporary cosy corner outside – similar to the one you might be enjoying inside when chilly weather comes sneaking upon us. And just like that, you’re set for a steamy cup of afternoon tea.
Afternoon tea?

Did you know that drinking warm beverages in warm weathers can actually help the body cool down? Sounds counter-intuitive, right? However, by increasing your body temperature you’re also letting more heat evaporate from your skin – thereby cooling the body down. Pretty cool, don’t you think?

“It was important for me to keep a lot of the pattern designs quite simple so that it wouldn’t feel overwhelming. I wanted the patterns to work together, but not look the same.”
