Activity: Dino Drawing/Finding Five Faults

Could dinosaurs tell the time? Did they ever try candy? Colour our dino-drawings and think about what you see! Is there something that doesn’t seem right?

Play is a way for children and adults to explore and use their creativity and imagination. It’s also a way of expressing ourselves.

This activity encourages children to use their imagination and at the same time reflect upon the lives of the dinosaurs. And remember – no one knows what colour the dinosaurs had when they walked, ran and flew on our earth millions of years ago – for now, it’s up to research and our imagination.
