SAMMANKOPPLA
limited collection
No matter where you live, more and more people are moving into small city spaces than ever. That's why we've worked with Thai fashion designers Greyhound Original to develop SAMMANKOPPLA, a limited collection of products that blend Bangkok street style with our home furnishing expertise.

It's further inspired by recycling, reusing, and creative repurposing processes, and has been designed to be multifunctional and affordable — making it ideal for use by people all over the world.
Who are Greyhound Original?

The Greyhound story began in the 1980s, when four friends with a passion for living well decided to open a clothing store together. Fast forward several years, and they’re now selling their designs from new locations in Hong Kong, Shanghai and London — and their food from their Greyhound Cafés in hometown Bangkok.

“Greyhound has a relaxed, playful attitude to design and always adds a twist. It’s been great to bring that to IKEA,” says Michael Nikolic, Creative Leader at IKEA.
Much of the collection features bold patterns inspired by Bangkok’s urban landscape and Greyhound’s graphic fashion sensibilities. The houndstooth design that appears on this bag is one that’s frequently found in traditional Thai weaving — but here it’s made using modern materials.

This tote takes our FRAKTA bag’s familiar shape and adds a zip, making it even easier to transport things on foot or by bike in any city.
This mat would traditionally be woven in natural fibers, but we've made use of PET bottles for part of it instead—a great way of repurposing material that would otherwise go to waste.
SAMMANKOPPLA
Cushion, triangular

$29.99

You’ll find cushions shaped like this in markets throughout Southeast Asia — they’re the perfect shape for resting your back on.
Like Bhanu Inkawat, Executive Creative Director at Greyhound Original says, “This is a collection influenced by a city where anything goes, and it shows that imperfection can be perfect.”

If it’s stylish, why shouldn’t your lamp look like an old plastic bottle?

IKEA #whatdoesyourchairwear challenge

To celebrate the launch of our SAMMANKOPPLA chair cover, we’re asking — what does your chair wear?

Use the hashtag #whatdoesyourchairwear and show us how creative you can get dressing up your own furniture, and we’ll feature our favorites online.

*CAUTION: these examples are only suitable for styling. Not sitting. Stick with our safety-approved covers when using as a normal chair.
