

FÖSSTA collection

December 2022

Invite a little luck into your home

Welcome the Lunar New Year in style and enter into the Spirit of the Rabbit with the new FÖSSTA Collection.

Looking back to China's cultural roots, classical techniques and forms, designers Jennifer Idrizi, Zhelin Lian and Willy Chong have created a beautiful, practical, and above all, fun collection that perfectly blends the contemporary with the traditional.

The FÖSSTA Collection features embossed designs influenced by the art of the Tang Dynasty, eye-catching plum blossom prints inspired by traditional Chinese ink and brush paintings. And of course, an abundance of bunny design ideas to invite luck, prosperity and happiness into your home all year long.

Designers Jennifer Idrizi, Zhelin Lian and Willy Chong

British artist and designer Jennifer Idrizi is a frequent collaborator with IKEA. She particularly enjoys designing collections for cultural celebrations and festivities.

Chinese designer Willy Chong has worked with IKEA for over 6 years. He particularly enjoys designing products that are quirky and playful in character but have a distinct functionality.

Zhelin Lian is a Chinese designer working for IKEA since 2018. He believes that design has a tremendous positive impact on our life and our well-being.

The art of the Tang Dynasty

While it's your food that will bring everyone together, it's your decor that will make them want to stay. With embossed geometric patterns inspired by the art of the Tang Dynasty, the FÖSSTA range of plates and bowls are as beautiful as they are useful.

"When designing ceramic patterns for FÖSSTA Lunar New Year collection I became passionate about art from the Tang Dynasty. The empire saw a flowering of creativity with new shapes and patterns visible in art, pottery and architecture. It was such an exciting period and it continues to inspire today – as you can see in this collection."
